What we fund: TCH seeks to foster groundbreaking cancer research by bridging the gap between basic science and clinical practice. We invite multidisciplinary and translational research proposals that aim to advance cancer prevention, diagnosis, and treatment. TCH welcomes projects that promote the generation of ground-breaking knowledge and translational value through the collaboration between basic and clinical researchers. The likelihood of being funded by prestigious external funding agencies and/or the possibility to lead to the initiation of a clinical trial in the next 3-4 years will be highly positively evaluated.
